

A GROWING TREE WITHIN US

- Dr. Kirthi Kakade
BHMS, MSCP

Like the cosmos spread all over our head, we as a small spec in it , our basic ground being our nature our mother earth to whom we originally belong.. from whom we are born and into who we absolve. As a tree grounded/rooted spreading our arms lie the mighty branches extending towards the cosmos. , is our being- our thoughts, good deeds, good karma, discipline, love , compassion, trust, devotion, dedication, hard work which nourish our roots, according to which our existence grows Branched are we into different roles that we play in our life. Leaves are the beauty of each day we live, some days bright green serving our best to fade away and fall to rest on ground and nourish our roots again.. Flowers are the easy selfless giving away quality which are undying and always smiling. Each flower indicates every good deed or quality which were nourished into us by our roots. The centre of each flower - the Calyx that serves as the centre of our purpose. Those delicate petals that denote the ways we express each quality to the outer world..so intricate so different,, yet living its own way. Fruits are a sign of productivity and replenishing substance, a blessing from the universe, a prize earned for our deeds.. they live to give others source of life, for when ever has the tree tasted its sweetness for once, .yet when fallen to ground unnoticed somehow remain to live again for the ground, giving birth a new life form new density new purpose for another to belong, as an individual and re grow as a blessing receiving the blessings the energy, the power of the cosmic love.. to grow to flourish and merge back into the truth and the divine law...

That we live to die and die to live.. Our deeds and time well accomplished.. Into the union of nothingness and duty that always will remind of our journey and time..
